New shop — new costumes

Admiral costumes has successfully relocated back to Newton Longville to the newly refurbished 86 Westbrook End. Most of the stock is available for viewing here, so please do come along and see what we have for your next production.

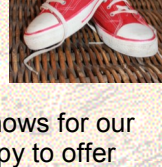

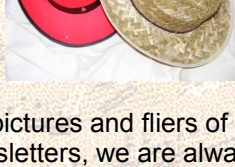

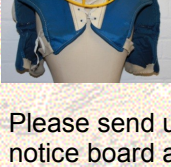

We hold an unrivalled collection of hard to find period clothing, props and accessories, so please do call us to arrange an appointment, we look forward to seeing you.

Local productions

Recent shows we have costumed include Babes in the Wood, Oh what a Lovely War, Cinderella, Guys and Dolls, the Wizard of Oz, Ruddigore, The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas and Oklahoma.

The Sound of Music is proving extremely popular since its release with several productions planned throughout 2012. We have full costumes sets for this show, so do get in touch if you are putting this on this year. We have flyers on our show costume sets which are available to download from our website or you can e-mail us your request.

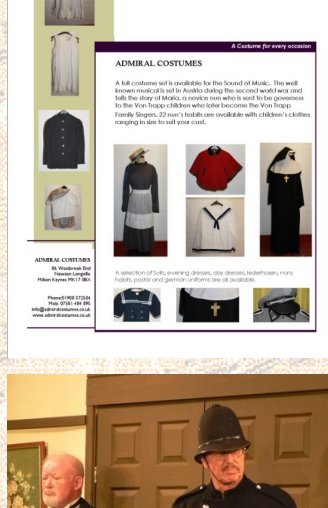

Please send us your pictures and fliers of your shows for our notice board and newsletters, we are always happy to offer some extra publicity

Dickens Centenary

Our Victorian and Edwardian costumes are in demand for the Dickens festival this year with many schools dressing up for the day. We have an excellent range of both adult and child costumes for these type of events which are available for hire at very reasonable rates and include all accessories.

Many thanks to SF Digital who hired clothes from our Edwardian range for a photo shoot and sent us some fabulous shots.

Showcourt productions' fabulous production of Murdered to death by Peter Gordon
